

Fostering Intercultural Communication via Act of Writing Poetry

In this talk, I share how inviting poetry writing in L2 writing classrooms can help ESOL teachers explore and further expand knowledge about various cultural constructs their multilingual students may belong to at the higher education level by sharing two of my poems.

Bio: Saurabh Anand is an international student from India, pursuing his doctoral studies in the Department of Language and Literacy Education (TESOL and World Languages Education) at the University of Georgia.